

THE PRICE PAID FOR RACIAL EQUALITY

CORE Leader Hal Brown

Last summer Hal Brown, Regional and local CORE Chairman, led the demonstrations against the Bank of America which resulted in a 37% increase in employment of Negroes and other minority groups by this bank. These demonstrations were carried out by CORE members dedicated to our ancient heritage of the "brotherhood of man" and "freedom and justice for all." The struggle with the Bank of America for equal employment opportunities was won--by CORE. Now the price is being paid --by CORE.

On August 28, Superior Court Judge Vincent Whelan sentenced 11 CORE demonstrators to serve a token jail sentence. On the day following announcement of award of the Nobel Peace Prize to Rev. Martin Luther King, Municipal Judge Madge Bradley sentenced local civil rights leaders Hal Brown and George Stevens to 15 days in jail. On October 23, Municipal Judge Frank Nottbusch sentenced two dedicated white CORE workers Charlyn Brindley and Fred Cawley to 30 days in jail; and in the days to come, Hal Brown, Ambrose Brodus, Marjorie Poe, Bill Beard and other CORE members face further possible sentences. The power structure of a society, even when it has been in the wrong, cannot be challenged without painful consequences to those who would right these wrongs.

The Congress of Racial Equality now asks if you will help to pay the price for freedom and racial equality. You are asked to join CORE. You are asked to contribute money to CORE. You are asked to mail or telephone this kind of message to City Attorney Ed Butler (Civic Center, San Diego: telephone 239-7511) and to Operations Officer Ernest Holmes of the Bank of America (Main Office, 615 Broadway: telephone 294-2345):

"I protest the obvious attempt to intimidate by continued trials and jailing the CORE leaders and members who are working for civil rights for Negroes and other minorities in San Diego."

CORE will not falter nor be intimidated. Its members mean it when they sing, "We Shall Overcome." They take as their inspiration the beautiful ending sentence of President Kennedy's Inaugural Address: "With a good conscience our only sure reward, with history the final judge of our deeds, let us go forth to lead the land we love, asking His blessing and His help, but knowing that here on earth God's work must truly be our own."
